OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

WORD-CONSCIOUS PEOple, such as editors, are interested in words and often bore their readers to extinction by discussing new additions to the English language.

We recall that when the office acquired the new unabridged Random House dictionary about 18 months ago, we devoted almost an entire column to some of our "findings".

The Random House model replaced a 1955 unabridged Webster job and it was fun picking out words at random that were in the new model but were not in the 1955 version.

A 1904 Webster unabridged dictionary had been uncovered in our joint also and it was interesting to compare all three.

Now we learn from a news release of World Book Encyclopedia that the English language seems to be undergoing what might be called a "language explosion".

That could possibly mean then that our Random House dictionary soon will be out of date.

Conceding that the 1904 model is antiquated and the 1955 edition is incomplete, we had hopes that the new Random House book would be modern enough for quite some time.

Now we don't know.

According to the aforementioned news release, the 1969 edition of the World Book Dictionary contains 14,000 words and phrases that were not in the 1968 edition. It seems that the editors had to add 150 pages to jam in all the new words!

Even to a word lover like your editor, that's a little much.

LEXICOGRAPHERS alone are not responsible for this word explosion.

Many of you who are reading this column must also share this awful responsibility.

Forming new words apparently is everybody's business.

Politicians, scientists, the fashion designer, the man in the street and, of course, the teen-ager must equally shoulder the blame in the development of new words and phrases.

For example, the phrase "conspiracy of silence" apparently stems from politicians who claim it means "conspiring to keep something wrong, damaging, etc. from being divulged."

And how about "gaposis".. "any conspicious or abnormal gap, deficiency, etc."..

Recently we have heard a great deal about the credibility gap and the generation gap, so naturally there must be a "gaposis".

THE NEWS RELEASE OF the World Book Encyclopedia listed a whole handful of new words and phrases that appear for the first time in the 1969 book.

We have managed to make a living for years putting one word after another. You might say, we live by the word. But there were many in the list that we could not identify.

TRY SOME OF THESE ON FOR SIZE:

"Alateen, beefcake, campy, didact, Escoffier, funk, gucky, hobbit, I-Thou, lachrymist, meshuga, nebbish, off-hour, plain-Jane, read-in, schlepp, tin pants, yoo-hoo...."

That's just a partial list of the words and phrases that were included in the release... (They were the ones we thought you might have as much difficulty with as we did.)

Many of the others which were making their debut in the 1969 dictionary we were able to figure out pretty well, e.g., "ballhawk, body-check, end-run, instant replay, knuckle-baller, roadeo, ski bum, NFL". (They have had pretty regular usage in sports announcing.)

Others like "chicken colonel, easy money, car jockey, cliffhang," have been around

Park issue goes to city attorney

Campbell residents protest proposed apartment complex

Caught in the middle between its two advisory commissions, (planning vs. parks) the City Council on Monday night gained a two-weeks respite in the fast-breaking open space drama involving the city's central park on Rincon Ave.

The two week period, until the next meeting (Feb. 10), will allow the city attorney time to check out the legal problems involved.

The open space issue has provoked in a two-week period one of the greatest citizens' response to any civic question in this city's history.

Petitions with 1600 signatures were presented at the Council meeting Monday protesting the infringement on this city's limited open space areas by a plush apartment complex.

A jam-packed crowd overflowed the council chambers Monday night at a public hearing on the unprecedented appeal to the City Council.

Members of the Parks and Recreation Commission had appealed the approval of the site plan for a 288-unit apartment by the Planning Commission adjacent to the city-owned park land on Rincon Ave.

The City Council got off the hot seat, for two weeks, at least, at the close of the hearing Monday by referring the matter to City Attorney Joe Bonacina. Bonacina was directed to explore the sticky and varied legal aspects of the situation and report to the City Council at the next meeting (Feb. 10).

Bonacina had recommended that the Council take such action, although he admitted he recognized the problems he had to face in coming up with an answer to the issue. He indicated that he would sincerely try to be ready by the Feb. 10 session.

The city attorney explained he was interested in the answers to two basic questions:

(1) Did the Planning Commission err in failing to give consideration to the effect the apartment complex would have on the park area and (2) Does the City Council have the authority to deny the property owners use of the property in the absence of any change in zone?

Although the council chambers were jammed to the rafters by opponents of the huge apartment complex, the hearing was rated as one of the most orderly on record at the city hall.

In a tremendous show of unanimity, all seven members of the Parks and Recreation Commission, who, individually as well as collectively, had made the unprecedented appeal of a Planning Commission ruling, spoke out against the apartment complex.

Each took a certain phase of the issue.

Chairman Don Hebard explained the background and the problem and then introduced his fellow commissioners.

Hank Cary described the type of central park that was needed by the city. Court Watson reported that a state study showed that 30 acres would be needed for a central park and there were only 26 acres in the entire section from Budd to Campbell Ave.

Frank Kukuk pointed out on the map the few open space parcels that remain in the city. Mrs. Edith Morley

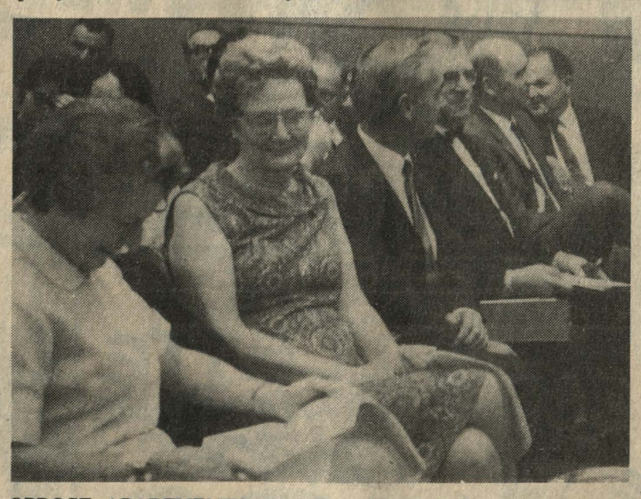
OVERFLOW---City Council chambers of Monday night were jammed by an overflow crowd at the public hearing on the unprecedented appeal by the Parks and Recreation Commission of a ruling of the Planning Commission approving an apartment complex.

IMPRESSIVE---Park Commissioner Bill Podgorsek presents City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan (hidden from view) with a stack of petitions containing 1600 signatures of people opposing the apartment complex infringing on this city's limited open space.



OPPOSE APARTMENTS---Members of the Parks and Recreation Commission present outstanding show of unanimity at public hearing Monday night. All had a part to play in presentation.

FAVOR APARTMENTS---Members of the firms proposing a 288-unit apartment complex adjacent to the Rincon Ave. Park attend "in force" the hearing Monday night.

Citizen cites cops for work during storm

EDITOR'S NOTE: Storm damage in Campbell last Saturday fortunately was confined mainly to uprooting of trees and the breaking-off of tree limbs.

But Campbell police and firemen were on a continuous run during the height of the storm.

An appreciative citizen dropped us a note this week which we felt worthy of front page notice:

"Editor, Campbell Press:

"As a Campbell resident I want to express my thanks to the Campbell Police Department for its continuing excellent service to the community.

"Particularly impressive was the work of at least two unsung heroes who were directing traffic at Hamilton-San Tomas intersection during the height of the storm Saturday night.

"Rain gear in that windstorm could never keep out that driving rain and the way they had to lean into the wind just to stand and make their traffic gestures visible to drivers inside their windshield-obscured autos was a fine example of how our sometimes maligned public servants risk their lives for our protection.

"Thank you, men!

Jeanette Watson wins citizen-of-the-year

Mrs. Courtland (Jeanette) Watson, of 61 Catalpa Lane, Chairman of the Citizens Beautification Committee "starred" twice at the annual Chamber of Commerce installation dinner-dance at the Villa Felice.

She was the lone woman (out of 18 members) installed by Superior Judge Richard (Dusty) Rhodes as a director of the CofC for next year.

Then as the climax of the evening, it was revealed that she had won the citizen-of-the-year award for 1968.

Jeanette and her husband, Court, appear in the top photo.

On the left below is her mother, Mrs. Joseph V. (Jennie) Gomes, widow of the long-time civic leader, Joseph V. Gomes, for whom the city park at Alice and Winchester has been named.

On the right, Jeanette receives the citizen-of-the-year award from the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, master-of-ceremonies for the annual CofC affair.

All mayors of city get special awards

All eight former mayors (dating from 1952) and the current mayor, Bill Smeed, were present at the annual installation dinner dance of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce last Friday night.

The awarding of plaques to the mayors by the CofC for their service to the city was a special feature of the annual event in which the directors were installed by Judge Richard (Dusty) Rhodes and the gavel of office passed from outgoing president, Ken Mantle, to the new president, Neal Royer.

Pictured above are two of the former mayors. Left to right, Charles Rose, who served 1964-1966 and Mrs. Rose; and Richard W. Morton, this city's first mayor who served from 1952 to 1956 and his mother, Mrs. Herold V. Morton.

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan introduced the first mayor, Morton, who, in turn, presented his successor, John Chargin and thus down the line.

Myron L. Fairchild followed Chargin, then Henry W. (Whitey) Weitzel; Pete Lico; Charles Rose; Ralph Doetsch and Dr. Edward J. Rogers, who presented Mayor Smeed.

Storm does little damage in Campbell

Storm and wind damage over the weekend caused numerous fallen wires, toppled trees and an aluminum patio cover was torn off a trailer parked at 920 E. Hamilton Ave., Space 57.

The Campbell fire department trucks were called out 16 times because of fallen wires.

In most instances the wires were arching on the ground and the fire trucks stood by until the PG&E department could service the broken wires.

A large acacia tree blew down at 169 Kennedy Ave. causing minor damage to two cars owned by Robert W. Tamone that were parked in a driveway. Other trees were blown down on White Oaks, McGlincey and the Hamilton Ave. - Meridian strip lost a dozen of the trees planted by the Campbell Garden Club beautification project.

The public works department was called into action to clear up broken tree limbs and to cut up the fallen trees. However, in spite of the heavy rainfall Campbell has not suffered from any flooding problem, and the only sandbagging necessary was at Winchester and Hacienda.

Further delay in the Rincon Ave. street construction was also caused by the storm.

Editorial

The new Campbell

Community newspapers have often been accused of being more "chamber of commercey" when it comes to boosting their towns than some chambers of commerce.

Therefore when a community newspaper sounds off at the start of the year about the golden era that lies ahead during the next 12 months, the more cynical reader is inclined to take it all with a grain or two of salt.

The Campbell Press has not waxed overly optimistic in forecasting or predicting in the past.

However, neither can this paper be accused of ever having been pessimistic.

But this year, if you think you might have noted a change in our editorial tone, you would be right. We definitely have become optimistic.

We believe that a "new Campbell" is about to emerge.

We concede that the Campbell of today is a far cry from that of a decade and a half ago. There have been advances on many fronts in this community during a 10 to 15 year span.

Those who have left and then have returned to this community during that time often express amazement over the changes that have taken place.

They can point to the efficiently run city administration including fire and police departments that have set enviable records throughout the years.

They can point to the community pride that has developed in recent years culminating in the passage of $2,600,000 in civic improvement bonds in October, 1967.

True, there have been many changes and improvements.

But it has been a slow, slow climb for this community to raise itself by its own boot straps and to improve its image.

There are many who maintain that we have exaggerated the importance of this image bit.

There are some who claim that Campbell's image has always been o.k. and that we are talking nonsense when we claim that Campbell's image was poor and this community's reputation and advancement suffered because of it.

Those who discount "image" apparently have not been around very long or they would have heard Campbell described on occasion as "a dirty little cannery town".

And apparently it made not a lick of difference to point out that no cannery has operated in Campbell for almost 20 years.

But let's face it, Campbell WAS a cannery town for years. Whether it could be called "clean" or "dirty" probably depended on where you were at the time.

During the past few years there has been a definite change in the overall attitude about Campbell.

The residents themselves have been largely responsible for this because a community pride has been developing that has sort of rubbed off on the surrounding areas.

But they ain't seen nothin' yet!

A new Campbell is about to take its rightful place among the cities of the Santa Clara Valley.

If only half of the developments that are now on the drafting board come to life in this community during the next year, even the most unimaginative individual in town will have to recognize that an evolution has taken place.

We believe that the Fred Sahadi development of "The Prune Yard" and "The Towers" at Campbell and Bascom avenues will have an impact on this area of such magnitude that every corner of the community will be benefited.

There will be a "moving forward" that will be obvious to all inside and outside this city.

There has been some criticism of Sahadi that he has been emphasizing that his center is in the "geographical center of the greater metropolitan San Jose". The mailing address, they add, that is on the brochures and ads, is San Jose.

Those critics fail to recognize that the Sahadi--Pittsburg Des Moines Steel project is a $10-12 million operation.

And, unfortunately, there is something about an "image" involved plus the fact that a surprising number of potential tenants for both "The Prune Yard" and "The Towers" don't know that Campbell exists.

As a matter of fact it hasn't been so long ago when many of those same potential tenants were unaware that there even was a San Jose.

But we maintain that the "new Campbell" will become known and we won't have to worry about the image in the future.

a long time.

As we warned you a few paragraphs back in this dissertation, most editors we have known a tendency to bore people to death with words.

Your editor apparently is no exception.

Incidentally, those four letter words that some of the demonstrators think they are proving something by using today are not new.

They have been around a long time—and so has decency.

Another bad case of GAPOSIS on the part of the demonstrators.

A FEATURE STORY IN last week's issue of The Press reported one of those rare events...an individual had reached the century mark in age.

True the person who marked his 100th birthday resides in Oceanside, Calif. But we think you all recognized the connection and agree with us that the news story had a place in The Campbell Press.

Our father, Conrad K. Vierhus, reached that ripe old age on Jan. 21.

Unfortunately Dad has been confined to a hospital in recent weeks but until a few months ago, he was busy and active around the house and yard, doing chores and repairs, our Dorothy claims, far better than we have ever done.

His wife, our stepmother, Dr. Lucy Kilgore Vierhus, is a retired "M.D." and former instructor in the Los Angeles Bible College.

She undoubtedly is the most versatile person we have ever known. She is well-versed in so many fields that it is difficult to list them, in addition to being downright frustrating to a guy with limited abilities like your editor.

They have been good for each other over the years, forming a remarkable team, taking an active part in both Sunday School and church activities of the First Baptist Church in Oceanside.

We are telling you all this not only because we are proud that our Dad is now "100" but also because those two fine people are the epitome, in our book, of God-fearing Americans who not only believe in good Christian life but also have lived it.

Although Dad is the one who has reached the century mark in age, we salute them both.

We are sure you don't mind that we used this column to to pay tribute to them.

Besides, how many people do you know who are 100 years old?

And in your own family?

SPEAKING OF AGE, (and we most certainly were), some of you are probably aware that in recent weeks The Press has been using new mug shots of Neal Royer, the new president of the CofC, and Don Kennedy, the newly-installed first vice-president.

Admittedly the mugs that we had been using previously were still in good repair and would have been good for quite a few more miles.

But, after all, the members of the Chamber of Commerce have a right to know that the top brass of their organization are men who have gained maturity through experience and years and are not just fresh out of college.

Obviously The Press had a duty to perform.....

By the way, we think it can be safely said that the Campbell Rotary Club should become quite conscious of the activities of the Chamber of Commerce this next year.

Neal Royer, the president; Don Kennedy, the first vice; Bob Bullard, the second vice and Bob Blonder, the treasurer, are all members of the Campbell Rotary Club, as is Len Edholm, the CofC's manager.

AINSLEY PARK HAS been suggested as the name for the attractive little park around the two stately walnut trees on Campbell Ave., at the railroad tracks.

For those who have tuned in late, in the early days, even before this paper was founded in 1895, the J.C. Ainsley cannery was a thriving business in this community.

Through the years, the Ainsley Corporation has played a major part in the development of the area, as carried on by Bill Lloyd, an Ainsley son-in-law.

There have been a number of phone calls to the office agreeing with the idea but the callers seem loathe to allow their names to be used.

We suppose it really doesn't matter what the park is called, if anything.

Yet it is the only real landmark in town. The trees, by the way, were planted almost 90 years ago by descendants of Ben Campbell, the town's founder.

As I View It

BY JOHN W. GILBAUGH

California's community colleges hold the key to resolving the major problems of all segments of the state's crisis-plagued institutions of higher education. A uniquely American innovation, the Community College has flourished in California's friendly educational climate. The locally-controlled, California Community-College enrollment has reached an estimated 660,000 students. This figure is greater than the combined enrollments of all other states in which substantial support has been given to the Community College movement.

For example, together, New York, Illinois, Florida, Michigan, Texas and Oregon, enroll 576,000 junior college students - some 84,000 fewer than are enrolled in California's Community colleges.

Though, they have provided California youth with unique educational opportunities, the Community Colleges have not yet realized their full potential. In providing for both the vocationally-oriented, terminal educational needs of youth and adults beyond high school, and academic programs for students who wish to continue their higher education beyond the first two years, the Community Colleges have done a commendable job. In fact, they have done so well, that about as many students who are admissable to the lower divisions of the state colleges and university system of California, choose, instead, to attend the Community Colleges.

And, for good reasons - not the least of which is that better teaching is done in freshman and sophomore years in the locally-controlled Community Colleges. During recent years, increasing amounts of the lower-division teaching function in the State College and University systems has been relegated to teaching assistants.

This writer has long maintained, that if a teaching assistant, while working toward a Master's degree, can do a creditable job of teaching college-level courses, then, the profession has been perpetrating a fraud on the taxpayer by making the Doctor's degree a condition for tenure and promotion. It is mandatory, by law, that Community College teachers assigned to academic programs, hold both the Master's degree and a teaching credential. Neither is required of State College and University professors.

Many state college and university, lower-division teachers consider instruction of students at freshman and sophomore levels as being beneath their dignity. And, acceptance of such employment is viewed as a means of eventually leading to teaching assignments at the junior, senior and graduate levels. Consequently, the waiting period, which may extend over several years, is fraught with frustration and faculty morale problems.

Some State College and University faculty members, however, have escaped from what they consider to be the dismal fate of working with freshmen and sophomore students, by lobbying innovative programs through faculty-controlled committees and councils. Such courses, usually with heavy emphasis on sensitivity training and sex, are frequently staffed by campus kooks, who entice the most brilliant entering freshmen into such programs by flattery on their distinguished, high-school academic achievements. How much better it would be for the students, and society in general, if these young people would spend the first two years of their college careers in the state's excellent Community Colleges, which offer everything that is available elsewhere - with the possible, single exception of snob appeal. With local control, the curriculum is ever under the close scrutiny of elected Community College trustees.

Because the people have no direct control over the State College and University systems, costs are exorbitant in providing programs for freshmen and sophomore students, when compared with Community College costs. Therefore, the people of California - should press to remove the first two years of college-level education from the state college and university systems and place them under the jurisdiction of the state's excellent community colleges. At the same time, however, the state legislature should undertake to effect major tax reforms so that the financing of the community colleges would not be placed on local property owners.

California's ablest graduating high school seniors, ten percent of whom are admissible to the State's University system and thirty-five percent eligible to attend the State Colleges, would profit from the educational opportunities offered by the Community Colleges, where there is an absence of inferior teaching by teaching assistants. And, the Community Colleges are relatively free of the activists, revolutionaries, anarchists, hippies and campus kooks that often secure teaching positions in large numbers in California's state college and university systems.

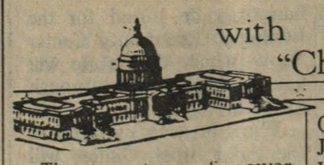
Girls' Sports went to finals last weekend. The two basketball teams played while the hockey teams were unable to compete because of rain. This concludes hockey and basketball season for the girls. Their next two sports are volleyball and gymnastics.

The Panther hoopman met another defeat to Leigh last Friday. A strong defense kept the team away from the baskets. The 2-7 record doesn't allow for poor spirit although. The Prospect spirit was at a peak last Friday.

Speech and debators are preparing for a tournament this Saturday at Leigh. The Individual Events Tournament will start at 8:00 a.m. Ninety students from Prospect are entered.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser



The transition of power from President Johnson to President Nixon was so smooth that the Inaugural Ceremonies seemed almost traditional and to some extent uneventful.

Yet historically these events have been neither traditional nor unchangeable. There have been Inaugurations without parades, without balls, even without the outgoing President attending the swearing in of his successor.

When the liberal Thomas Jefferson was inaugurated, his political foe John Adams was so incensed that he left Washington the morning of the Inauguration. He is quoted as saying that he didn't want to be present to witness a "radical" like Jefferson assume office.

Ill feeling between John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson disrupted the 1829 Inaugural. On grounds that Adams was responsible for libelous attacks on Mrs. Jackson, "Old Hickory" refused to make the usual call on the outgoing President. Adams responded by going horseback riding while Jackson took the oath of office.

At the capitol, the President is officially sworn in by the Chief Justice and takes the oath with his hand on a Bible. At Washington's first Inauguration, officials found they had forgotten to secure a Bible for use in the ceremony so they rushed over to St. John's Masonic Lodge No. 1 in New York City and borrowed their Bible for the occasion. The same Bible was used later in the Inauguration of both Harding and Eisenhower.

William McKinley's Inaugural Address in 1897 was the first to be recorded for posterity. An amusement hall in Washington later played gramophone records of the speech. It cost 5 cents to listen.

Inaugural parades in the early days were largely local and unorganized affairs. But in 1841, when the Whigs took over the presidency for the first time, it became a large and spectacular affair. At Lincoln's big parade in 1861, civil strife was in the air. Rumors had been circulated that an attempt might be made on Lincoln's life so sharpshooters lined the route to begin the security precautions which are now so important in planning an inaugural parade.

By 1905 when Teddy Roosevelt became President, the parade had become one of the most colorful of the Inaugural events -- included 35,000 participants and took 3-½ hours to pass the reviewing stand.

The Inaugural Balls have usually been glamorous, if crowded, affairs. An exception was Andrew Jackson's Inaugural Ball described as follows by Daniel Webster:

"The rabble fell on the refreshments, jostling the waiters...breaking the china and glassware, standing in muddy boots on damask covered chairs, spoiling the carpets, and creating such press that it was no longer possible for those on the inside to escape by the doors. The windows were used for exits." — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson put an end to Inaugural Balls in 1913 because she disapproved of modern dancing. The tradition was revived for F.D.R. in 1933.

The Nixon Inaugural broke no traditions and set no new precedents. Perhaps Inaugurals are becoming what they should be–a day of national celebration!

Engagement revealed at champagne supper

SUSAN ANN PISANO and LE MOIN GLENN STILLE

A champagne buffet party on Dec. 7 was the occasion for the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Joseph Pisano, 1165 Cardiff Court, of the engagement of their daughter Susan Ann and Le Moin Glenn Stille.

Among the special guests attending the announcement party were Mrs. Marguerita Bruno, great grandmother of the bride elect and Mrs. Margaret Sculli, the bride's grandmother. Also present were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stille; his sister, Mrs. Charlene Bland, all of Stockton, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clancy, aunt and uncle of the groom elect, also from Stockton.

Two large white doves carrying a white banner with the names Lee and Sue hovered over a two-tier heart shaped fruit cake made by Mrs. Pisano. On top of the cake was a heart shaped picture of the engaged couple, with white frosting and red velvet roses decorating the cake. The two buffet tables carried out the red and white and green color scheme with poinsettia flower arrangements, red velvet ribbon and green net tablecloths.

Sue was graduated from Blackford High School is presently attending San Jose College where she is majoring in business management. While in high school Sue was active as student body secretary and also served as secretary of the Junior Achievement association.

Le Moin was graduated from Tracy High School and is presently attending San Jose State College. He is employed by the San Jose Police Department and is also a corporal in the Marine Corps Reserves.

During the evening festivities toasts were made to the young couple by the bride elect's father and her brother Nick, Jr. The engagement guest book was passed by her two sisters, Marguerite and Linda.

A late August wedding is being planned by the newly engaged couple.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

How tough is it being a professional hockey player?... Eddie Shore, who was one of the great defensemen of all-time and a member of the hockey hall of fame, had his nose broken 14 different times, had his jaw broken five different times, and received a total of 978 stitches in his 15-year hockey career

Ever wonder why a left-hand pitcher in baseball is called a "southpaw"?... Ball parks are usually laid out so the batter faces east to avoid a set-ting sun shining in his eyes... So, if center-field is east, the south end of ball parks parallels the first base line... A left-hand pitcher's throwing hand is on the first base side of the diamond... Thus, he's a "southpaw".

Social Side

Social highlights of C of C installation

BY GRACE HEBARD

Always a gala evening, the Campbell Chamber of Commerce installation dinner dance last Friday night at Villa Felice attracted a "dressy crowd" of approximately 225 people. Considered by many to be this city's major social event, the banquet has grown in attendance and enthusiasm each year.

A grateful audience gave a standing ovation to Mrs. Courtland Watson who was named "Citizen of the Year" for her outstanding beautification campaign. Looking every bit like a queen, Jeanette wore a regal white satin floor length gown, accented with a rhinestone mandarin collar. She wore her hair in a becoming upsweep coiffure.

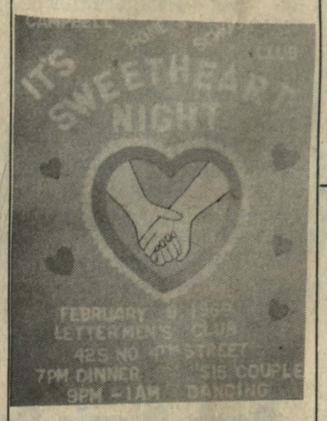
Her mother, Mrs. Joseph Gomes, was in the audience, as were other members of the Gomes family. Mrs. Gomes chose a lovely pink linen coat and dress ensemble for the occasion.

Among others noted at the banquet tables were Dale and Sharon Scott; Sharon chic in a smart black and white print. Mrs. Norman Paul (Charmaine) accented her brunette beauty in a turquoise wool outfit. Mrs. Don Kennedy was in white and Mrs. Al LaPlante chose a starched white lace bolero over a red sheath.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chargin (Betty) visited with Richard Morton, who brought his mother to the banquet. Betty Chargin's white dress was accented with colorful stripes.

Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Hall of West Valley College were present (Mrs. Hall in a brilliant red) as were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutter. The dance floor attracted the Peter Licos, the Merv Nelsons, the Eldred Nelsons and the Robert Stewarts. The Dean Chamberlins and the Ralph Doetschs left before the "wee hours" but many danced on till closing time...

"It's Sweetheart theme set for dinner dance



THEME POSTER---"It's Sweetheart Night" is the theme of the Campbell Home and School Club dinner dance set for Feb. 8. The above posters were made by the school art classes.

The Campbell Elementary Home and School Club dinner-dance theme has been set for "It's Sweetheart Night". The fund raising event will be held Feb. 8 at the Lettermen's Hall, 425 North 4th St., San Jose, according to Don Mesquita, Home and School club president.

It is hoped that the one social event of the year will be so successful that further carnivals, socials and other events will not be necessary. Dancing will be to the music of Paul DeAngelo and his band starting at 9 p.m. after the barbecued steak dinner which will be held at 7 p.m.

Picture posters advertising the event, made by Miss Charlene Mason's art classes, have been placed in the various stores in the area.

Tickets are now available. Early reservation should be made by calling Hank Mestice, 378-0487, Don Mesquita, 379-4916 or Mrs. Dorothy Sutter, school principal, at 378-4955.

The social affair will begin at 8:30 and the two live bands, "The Arc" and "Brandy" will play until 12 midnight. A "light show" also will be a feature of the evening, according to Hank Imsen, president of the Blackford P.T.A. and a member of the Blackford Chiefs. A $1 admission charge will be collected.

NEW CHOIR

A new choir is being formed at St. Lucy's, to be called the St. Lucy's Mixed Choir. Open to both men and women, all adults who like to sing are cordially invited to attend the first rehearsal Friday, Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. in Kennelly Hall. Ability to read music is not a necessity.

Country Woman's Club plans "Dime a Dip" lunch

"Dime a Dip" (and a quarter for the entree) is the type of luncheon planned by Mrs. H. W. Jensen, chairman for the day, when the Country Woman's Club of Campbell meets at their Campbell Ave. clubhouse on Feb. 3, at 12:30 p.m.

With her committee, composed of Mesdames Milton Howe, Harry Todd, Norman Houge, Elmer Hoerler and Frank Jacobson, and with assistance from Mrs. W. O. Fuller, program chairman, and Mrs. William Cave, president, Mrs. Jensen has planned an afternoon of "food and fun"

Following the luncheon and accompanying business meeting, Mrs. Milton Howe will attempt to repeat the highly successful "White Elephant Auction" which is one of the club's scheduled fund-raising events for the year.

Last year's auction provided the club members with a painless afternoon of enjoyable bidding. All of the "elephants" are brought to the clubhouse wrapped, so that the bidder knows only that the auctioneer has been clued as to the "value" of the gift, but not its contents.

All members are requested to bring several wrapped gifts to contribute.

Mrs. Sharp, who was presently making her home in Blythe, had lived in Campbell for eight years. She was a native of Cripple Creek, Colorado. She was preceeded in death by her husband, William E. Sharpe.

Presiding at the services were Dr. Thomas S. Gee of the First United Presbyterian Church of Los Gatos.

Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Sanna Black Ward, 88, who passed away Saturday following a long illness.

A native of Tennessee, Mrs. Ward was 88 at the time of her death. She lived with her sister, Miss Byrle Black at 2265 Winchester Blvd. She had lived in Campbell for the past 21 years.

The widow of Alexander P. Ward, Mrs. Ward was a member of the First Congregational Church of Berkeley and tional Church of Berkeley. Rev. Corwin Olds, former minister of the First Congregational Church of Berkeley and pastor emeritus of the Congregational Church of Campbell, presided. Services were held from the Campbell Memorial Chapel.

THIS MOTHER WILL MARCH---A Mothers' March volunteer with a special interest in the problem of birth defects is Mrs. Paul Fischer of 624 Ginden Drive, Campbell, shown here ready to start out on her march with Jennifer, 3, and Dan, 4½. Dan was born with an open spine and water on the brain; his twin, who died, had a heart malformation. Like many mothers of birth defective children, she has no idea what caused the defects. Finding causes and then developing preventive measures is a major goal of The National Foundation, which is supported by the Mothers' March and the March of Dimes to be held Jan. 23-30.

In early times, the word "upholsterer" was spelled "upholdsterer" and referred to a servant who "held up the goods" to be seen by possible buvers.

DANCE HALL GIRL--Meredithe Boyd, charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyd, 758 Inwood Drive, will be seen as a dance hall girl in the San Jose Light Opera Association production of "Sweet Charity". With her are Norman Russell who plays the true love, Oscar, on the left and Bill Bruton, right, who portrays Daddy. Five Days in Washington

BY MASON J. SACKS

The Presidential Inaugural activities for 1969 were indeed impressive, as Robert Culp, the principal of Campbell High School, and Janie Wong can point out from first-hand experience. And I would have to agree with them, for I, too, had the rare privilege of being able to attend the ceremonies which made Richard Nixon the 37th president of the United States.

It was winning an essay competition sponsored by Purity Stores that enabled me to attend the Inauguration. Mr. Culp went as my sponsor. Janie was invited to attend as a result of her participation in Girls' Nation.

Thus, on Friday, Jan. 17, the three of us, along with four other people from Novato and Fort Ord, flew via American Airlines to the nation's capital. We arrived Friday evening, and went directly to the Sheraton Park Hotel, where rooms were reserved for us.

During the next few days our time was filled with many activities. On Saturday, Janie and I attended the Young Americans' Inaugural Celebration as "salute ot America's leaders of tomorrow." The affair, which was held by Miss Tricia Nixon and Randy Agnew, was extremely enjoyable. I felt honored to have been invited to attend.

Much of Sunday was spent touring and "seeing the sights" in Washington, D.C. The evening was topped off with a seafood dinner at the famous Hogate's Restaurant, where we celebrated Mr. Culp's "twenty-ninth" birthday.

Monday was the biggest day in the Inaugural activities. We first attended the actual swearing-in ceremonies which were held on the East steps of the Capitol Building. We then went to a special reception held by Congressman Charles Gubser in his office.

After the reception, we went directly to our reserved seats for the Inaugural Parade. The Inaugural Ball that we attended Monday night was held in the Sheraton Park Hotel. It was attended by the new president, Vice-President Agnew and numerous other dignitaries. It was through the generosity of Wendel Martin of Cupertino that Janie and I were able to be there.

MASON SACKS

Considering everything, the trip to Washington was extremely enjoyable and exciting. In addition to the many activities mentioned above, I also had the opportunity to meet and speak with several of our country's foremost politicians and statesmen, including Senator Percy, Senator Brooke, Governor Ronald Reagan and Senator Barry Goldwater.

I am very grateful for having been able to attend the 1969 Inaugural Ceremonies. It will undoubtedly be an experience I will never forget.

ONE MAN'S CATCH--Bill Chicoine is mighty proud of this 115 lb. sturgeon caught last Wednesday while fishing in San Pablo Bay. He reported that fishing was extremely good for 14 San Jose and Campbell area men aboard the "Tradewinds" with Skipper Lauren Leese of Campbell. Everyone limited out with large sturgeons. The days catch also included three striped bass from 15 to 18 lbs. and several pounds of flounders.

Phone company to spend $141 million in '69

Pacific Telephone will spend $140.1 million in the greater San Jose area during 1969 to keep up with service demands, Robert U. Skibinski, vice president and general manager has announced today.

The expenditures in the area, which includes San Jose, Saratoga, Cupertino, Campbell, Milpitas and Santa Clara, are part of the company's $524.6 million California construction program for 1969.

Skibinski said the program is a large one, but necessary if telephone customers are to continue to have good basic communications service.

Largest item in the budget is $1.1 million for additional lines, numbers, trunks and other No. 5 crossbar equipment in five San Jose offices.

Other projects include $837,000 for providing additional calling capacity for the long distance switching machine at 95 Almaden, $232,000 for completion of a building addition for growth of switching equipment at 20 W. Chynoweth, and $269,000 for special services for large commercial customers.

The remaining construction outlay for 1969 will be used for additional cable and equipment.

Attack warning sirens to sound Friday morning

A steady siren blast for one minute, a minute of silence, then a warbling tone or series of short blasts for another minute.

This is the test of emergency warning equipment at 11:00 a.m. on Friday, January 31.

The equipment to be tested is a part of the nationwide system for warning people of an enemy attack or other disaster.

You would be warned of an actual enemy attack by a warbling siren or series of blasts continuing for three minutes. This signal would be notice that you should protect yourself. Refuge in a public fallout shelter or other plans you have formed should then be acted upon immediately.

Radios should be turned on for emergency information.

In Santa Clara County Radio Stations KXRX, KEEN and KLOK are Emergency Broadcast Stations and are prepared to broadcast during a national emergency when other stations may shut down.

A steady tone for three minutes would be sounded if it becomes necessary to warn the public of other disasters. This signal means: Turn on your radio or television and listen to local stations for disaster information.

Sirens must be tested periodically to insure their readiness in an emergency. City and county officials in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties have selected the last Friday in January, April, July and October for coordinated testing.

In Santa Clara County sirens and air horns will be tested in Campbell, Cupertino, Gilroy, Los Altos Hills, Los Gatos, Milpitas, Monte Sereno, Mt. View, Palo Alto, San Jose, Santa Clara, Sunnyvale, and in key locations in unincorporated areas. Stanford University, Moffett Field Naval Air Station, and the Community of Redwood Estates will test warning equipment at the same time.

Eight injured in car crash

Eight people suffered injuries Sunday when a car driven by Florence McKeirnan, 72, of 200 Union Avenue made a left hand turn off of Union Ave. to Apricot Ave. Her car was hit by an auto driven by Michael Wayne Biver, 21, 1758 Curtner Ave. who was going north on Union Ave., according to police, when the McKeirnan car turned in front of him before he could stop.

Taken to the hospital were Biver and his three passengers, John Barr, 21, Judy Barr, 21, and Paul Worsham, 18. Also checked in for observation were Mrs. McKeirnan and her passengers, Kenneth Larry McArdle, 14, James McArdle, 14, and Jane Orgish, 20. No serious injuries were reported and Mrs. McKeirnan was cited for failure to yield right of way.

Young men can apply for state maritime school

Senator Alfred E. Alquist, representing the 13th Senatorial District, has announced that he will entertain applications from young men in his district for nomination as candidates for his appointment to the California Maritime Academy.

To be eligible for admission, a candidate must be a male citizen of the United States, a high school graduate, unmarried, not under 17 nor over 22 years of age, of good character, and he must meet prescribed mental and physical requirements. Eligibility is not dependent on race, color, creed, or national origin.

The state-operated California Maritime Academy is located in Vallejo on the north shore of the Carquinez Strait. Over a three year period of residence the Academy educates and trains young men as officers of the American Merchant Marine.

Costs of attendance at the Academy are borne by the state, the Federal government and the student.

It is essential that prospective candidates take college entrance examination board tests.

Those interested should communicate with Senator Alquist at 777 North First St., San Jose, California 95112 as early as possible.

Fire department places first in national contest

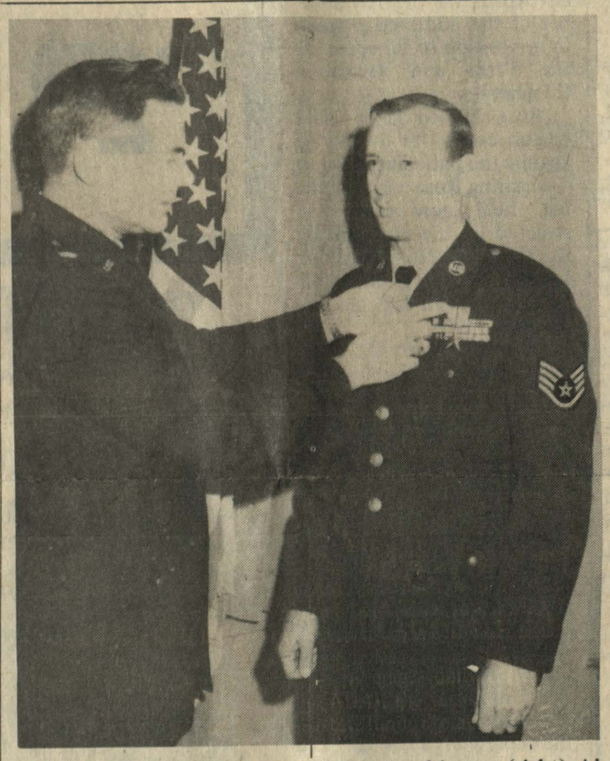
Once again the Campbell Fire Department has placed first in the Class V National Fire Protection Association contest, making the third time the City of Campbell has placed first. The announcement of the award was received by Fire Chief George Maxwell Tuesday via a telegram from the Boston, Massachusetts headquarters.

The Campbell unit also placed second in California: Oakland with a population of 250,000 placed first.

The world-wide organization's sole objective is to advance protection of lives and property from fire. Each entry in the contest submits a scrapbook showing the various fire protection activities carried on by the unit during the current year.

The Campbell Fire Department carries out an active campaign of fire prevention including two trash clean-ups per year, periodic inspections of businesses and home inspections if called upon; talks at all of the schools including a demonstration of fire suppressions, and service club demonstrations of resuscitator techniques.

The recent award marks the third time Campbell has placed first in the national Class V category. This class is limited to populations of 20,000 to 49,999. Campbell has previously won four first places in California and placed second in the United States.



MEDAL WINNER--Staff Sgt. Ellis D. Atkinson, (right) Air Force recruiter in Campbell located at 2275 Winchester Blvd., recently was presented the Bronze Star Medal in ceremonies in Alameda, Calif. The presentation was made by Col. Cattron (left) of the Air Force Recruiting Service.

Sgt. Atkinson was assigned to the Campbell office in September, 1968 upon his return from Vietnam. He now resides in Milpitas with his wife, Milly, and daughter, Cindy.

Sgt. Atkinson is a 16-year Air Force veteran and was cited because his "unequaled initiative and unparalleled devotion to duty contributed most significantly to the combat effectiveness of his unit". In Vietnam he was assigned to the 510th Tactical Fighter Squadron.

Business loses food and money too!

The Straw Hat Pizza, 1400 W. Campbell Ave., lost $229 in cash plus two sports coats, a quantity of ground meat, cheese and other food items over the last week. No evidence of forceable entry was discovered and police are checking out suspects who might have legal entry to the establishment.

Jewelry valued at $150 was removed from the Bruce Hardin residence at 647 Harriet Ave. A burglar apparently removed the bathroom screen, entered the unlocked window and removed gold and silver men's rings. Nothing else of value was touched.

Tools and mechanics equipment worth $2,000 was stolen from the Plaza Mobil Service Station, 1603 S. Bascom. Police believe that a van type vehicle must have been used to haul the equipment away due to the size and weight involved. The theft was discovered after police observed a broken window and observed that it was broken from the outside and was large enough to allow for entrance.

Girl Scouts

By Nan Warren

"Crusader Rabbit" is at it again!

I can't help but wonder how many of the citizens of our community, especially parents, realize what the Girl Scout Leader does to make Scouting fun for all girls. With the aid of the Neighborhood Chairman and Troop Organizer, she begins with her group of typically, enthusiastic girls.

She helps to plan not only the weekly meetings, but constructive trips, cookouts, camping excursions, civic projects. . . . . the list is endless!

Beneath the green uniform, beats a heart big as the whole outdoors.

She undoubtedly deserves a medal for courage, as one of the requirements to obtain the Foot Traveler badge, Junior level Scout, is three two-mile hikes and one five-mile hike. If the troop votes to go roller skating, you'd better believe she's on skates too. Sometimes she's a walking advertisement for "Ben Gay"!

She even endures the sly remarks and "salutes" received as she scoots into the meat market on her way home from a meeting. A prerequisite of a good Leader must be a sense of humor.

The brunt of the load upon her shoulders is lightened when parents take an active part in helping. When a Mom or Dad volunteers for a meeting or outing, pride swells within their child.

Today's Leader is not all Girl Scout cookies! She's an up-to-date gal with a flair for knowing the needs of today's girls and what they are looking for in Scouting. Sharing her time, talents and that "ever listening ear" is her job. I'm sure it is one of the "best paying jobs" in the world. Her payment comes in happiness and warm smiles. She feels a sense of accomplishment and treasures the friendships she makes along the way.

She takes her job seriously—do you?

MORE ABOUT Apartments

emphasized the importance of safety for the children in the area. Rincon Ave. she explained, now deadends into into the park.

Mrs. Margaret Fraker cited the importance of reserving park land now for future use.

Bill Podgorsek concluded the presentation by the commissioners with a dramatic presentation of the petitions to City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan.

He announced that the petitions contained 1600 names of people in the area opposed to the apartment complex.

The defense of the apartment complex was handled by Paul Frechette, designer of the project, and Bertram Burns, attorney.

Burns' claim that the seven acres involved would cost the city $1 million was subsequently criticized by members of the audience who said such a price was out of line.

Other than Frechette and Burns, Charles Rose, former councilman and mayor who was defeated for reelection last April, was the only member of the audience to speak in opposition to the appeal of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

Rose claimed that it would be too costly for the city to acquire the park land. Prior to the hearing Rose criticized the ball field now being constructed at the city park by the Campbell-Moreland Pony League. Rose claimed the field had been laid out improperly.

In addition to the arguments presented by members of the Parks and Recreation Commission against the apartment complex, a number of members from the audience took the floor to oppose the huge multiple-housing unit in the area.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbard, 180 S. First St., said she represented three local organizations, West Valley Senior Action Center, Head Start Policy Advisory Committee and United Progreso Arriba. All three, she said, favored the expansion of the park area instead of apartments. She filed letters from the organizations with the city clerk.

Chuck Cannady, leader in the Campbell-Moreland Pony League now constructing the ball field at the park, emphasized the need for centrally-located recreational areas for youngsters below driving age.

Huber Reaves, 505 Sunnybrook, emphasized the fact that there were 700 kids in the Hazelwood area alone and that recreational areas were needed for them. He added that the $1 million cost figure was presented to scare the supporters of the park.

Mrs. Jeanette Watson of 61 Catalpa Lane, newly-named citizen-of-the-year, explained how important it was to reserve land for the park.

She added that she had worked with volunteers from 8 to 80 in developing the tiny city-owned park at Alice and Winchester and felt that there would be many volunteers available for the Rincon park.

She pointed out that Fred Sahadi reportedly has spent $1 million to buy 34 acres at Bascom and Campbell and thus $1 million for seven acres was pretty steep.

She concluded with the statement, "We are not afraid".

Others speaking included, Ted Thorsen, 568 Sobrato, who also claimed that the $1 million figure which works out at $140,000 per acre was out of line.

Kenneth Sanders, 75 Hunt Way, and Bill Dean, 42 W. Campbell also spoke against the apartment project.

Jerry Gomes, of 179 Bland, president of the Campbell JayCees, said that his organization favored the park expansion and was opposed to the apartments. He filed a letter from the JayCees to that effect.

In summing up, Hebard said that a bond issue for park land acquisition could be held on June 3. He indicated that he felt that the people would support the issue, adding that the park bonds in Oct. 1967 failed by 30 votes to get the necessary two-thirds majority.

HURRIED TRIP

Mr. and MRs. Ken Hick man, Campbell public works superintendent, made a hurried trip to Yreka over the weekend to see their daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Perez, who was involved in an auto accident. Mrs. Perez was, fortunately, thrown free of her car as it rolled down a 150-foot embankment and she suffered only a fractured tailbone.
